MEDIA INFORMATION

For over 30 years, Footwear Today has been a vital source of information for the footwear industry. Buyers continue to rely on our unique blend of industry news, product information, fashion trends, road tests and trade show data to guide them when making their next order(s).

Our magazine is supported by the key industry associations: the British Footwear Association (BFA) and Independent Footwear Retailers Association (IFRA) and continues to work closely with Society of Shoe Fitters.

IFRA further endorses our magazine by sending our publication to every one of their independent retailer members. Following an enquiry, they also send our magazine with their own information to those who are looking to open their own footwear shop.

The Society of Shoe-Fitters also regularly promote our magazine to their students (who work within Footwear shops and stores) and advertise our publication on their members newsletter.

With associations offering their 'kite mark', advertisers have the piece of mind that Footwear Today is a fail safe way of getting their new product ranges and company message across to the people who count.

ONLINE & DIGITAL ADVERTISING

www.footweartoday.co.uk now offers a direct, measurable route for advertising your brands.

With the internet being a crucial tool for gathering information, www.footweartoday.co.uk offers readers a daily way of gathering information and news on the latest products.

With its new easy to use format, our site receives over 5,000 unique visitors every month. Readers not only come from the UK, but also United States, Canada, Ireland, Germany, Australia, China, Denmark and India.

With RSS feeds, E-news alerts and a monthly e-newsletter, our site regularly draws these readers time and time again, with each visitor spending on average 3 minutes, viewing approximately 4 pages.

Advertising is monitored by a fully independent ad server (OpenX), which delivers a 'true' figure of the number of impressions and click throughs (CTR) that your advertisement has received. This report is delivered by our web team on a monthly basis, giving you ultimate control over your advertising.

Alongside our site, Footwear Today is now also available in a digital format, offering the latest in 'turnpage' technology. With one click you can zoom in, copy and paste, email articles to friends (leaving them notes) and importantly follow web links and send emails – a excellent benefit for the advertiser/featured company.
